Visa Extension

- If your contract is not yet finished, but your ARC is soon expiring OR if you'd like to stay in Korea for a little while longer after the completion of your contract, you can apply for a visa extension, which gives you a maximum of one month.
- In order to apply for a visa extension, visit your local immigration office. Call ahead of time to confirm what documents you must bring in order to apply for a visa extension.

Must be obtained within the last 60 days before your current visa expires.*

Please note that the GOE is not the national authority on visa's. For more detailed and up to date information, please contact Immigrations: 1345*
